The Road Gang

Washington's Highway Transportation Fraternity

The Road Gang is an informal group of business and government executives, highway engineers and consultants, press and public relations specialists, company representatives, and trade association officials from the highway transportation industry in the Washington, DC area. The Road Gang serves the dual purpose of promoting fellowship and providing for the exchange of ideas among “Washington’s Highway Transportation Fraternity”.

The organization has a current membership of nearly 300 individuals. Back in 1942 when the “Road Gang” was organized, the membership numbered just 25. Soon after, however, more and more highway transportation executives were attracted to the Thursday luncheon meetings. The Road Gang has increased steadily in size and variety of membership. It continues to preserve its informal “off the record” atmosphere. The programs, over the years, have touched upon practically every facet of highway transportation activity.

What really sparks the Road Gang is its mixture of camaraderie and formal traditions. One of the important traditions of the Road Gang continues to be the lively bi-monthly luncheon addresses on current highway and transportation issues, particularly when legislative matters are pending. The Road Gang’s organization is deliberately kept informal, governed by an Advisory Committee of current officers and former chairpersons. They and the many active members keep the Road Gang ticking, year after year.

Awards

P. D. McLean Award

In commemoration of the energy, tact, and dedication of P. D. McLean, one of the founders and first chairman of the Road Gang, the annual P. D. McLean Memorial Award was established in 1962. This is a fitting tribute in P. D. McLean, who, as Assistant Director of the National Highway Users Conference, and in other capacities, devoted his entire career to the advancement of highway transportation.

The award is presented annually to an individual whose achievements in any of the highway transportation related fields qualify them to receive this distinct honor. The Award is given “for a distinct contribution to the cause of better highway transportation in the public interest.”

Any person is eligible to be nominated for this award. However, a nomination can only be made by a Road Gang member. An Award Committee is appointed each year by the Chairperson, and the committee is responsible for selecting the recipient.

All nominations should be forwarded in writing to the Secretary. The Award features an appropriate plaque to visibly demonstrate the esteem and honor of the recognition bestowed by peers. It is formally presented at the Annual Meeting of the Road Gang in January.
